Material Selection Waiver:

All natural stones are a product of nature, and are naturally subject to inherent variations known as inclusions. Differences in color, shading & veining can occur. Natural stone has mineral characteristics that create a visible texture within the stone and are to be expected in the finished product.

Natural inclusions include but are not limited to; Mineral deposits, pitting, fissures, dry veins & epoxy fill. These natural, and man-made occurrences can be felt to the touch and are inherent in certain parts of all natural stone. Natural stone can also be subject to a resin treated finish which may cause a change in color, shining and shading.

I have been informed by a GerrityStone representative by email when available, and at the time of template that the opportunity to preview the stone has been afforded me. I understand that I have chosen to use the above-described material based solely on the representative sample at Home Depot and understand the actual slab used could vary from the display.

To waive your option to view the material check here: _____

I hereby waive my option to preview the actual slab of said material which will be used for the above-referenced order. In doing so, I agree to accept the slab fabricated as chosen for me by Gerrity Stone, Inc.

To exercise your option to view the material prior to production check here: _____

I hereby exercise my option to preview the actual slab of said material which will be used for the above-referenced order. Gerrity Stone, Inc. will use the slab of my choosing in fabrication.

PRICING ESTIMATES/ACTUALS

Note: Pricing is based on (Single Slab Utilization) Consequently, there can be no assurances that veins, flow, and other characteristics will match at junction points IE. Seams, joints, and back splash. A more precise match is an option at the expense of greater slab utilization. This is available at an additional charge which will be quantified and agreed to by both GerrityStone and the customer prior to fabrication.
